

GHANAIAN AUTHOR PRESENTS BOOK ON LEADERSHIP TO VRA

Dr. Samuel Tengey, a renowned speaker and author, has presented six copies of his book on leadership titled “Leadership: Stripped Bare” to the Volta River Authority (VRA) for free.

The 205-page book, which explores the concept and practice of leadership, was presented to the VRA through the Chief Learning Officer of the VRA Academy, Mr. Kingsley Gyamfi at the Heritage Tower, in Accra. In attendance was the Director, Office of the CE, Mr. David Adomako-Mensah.

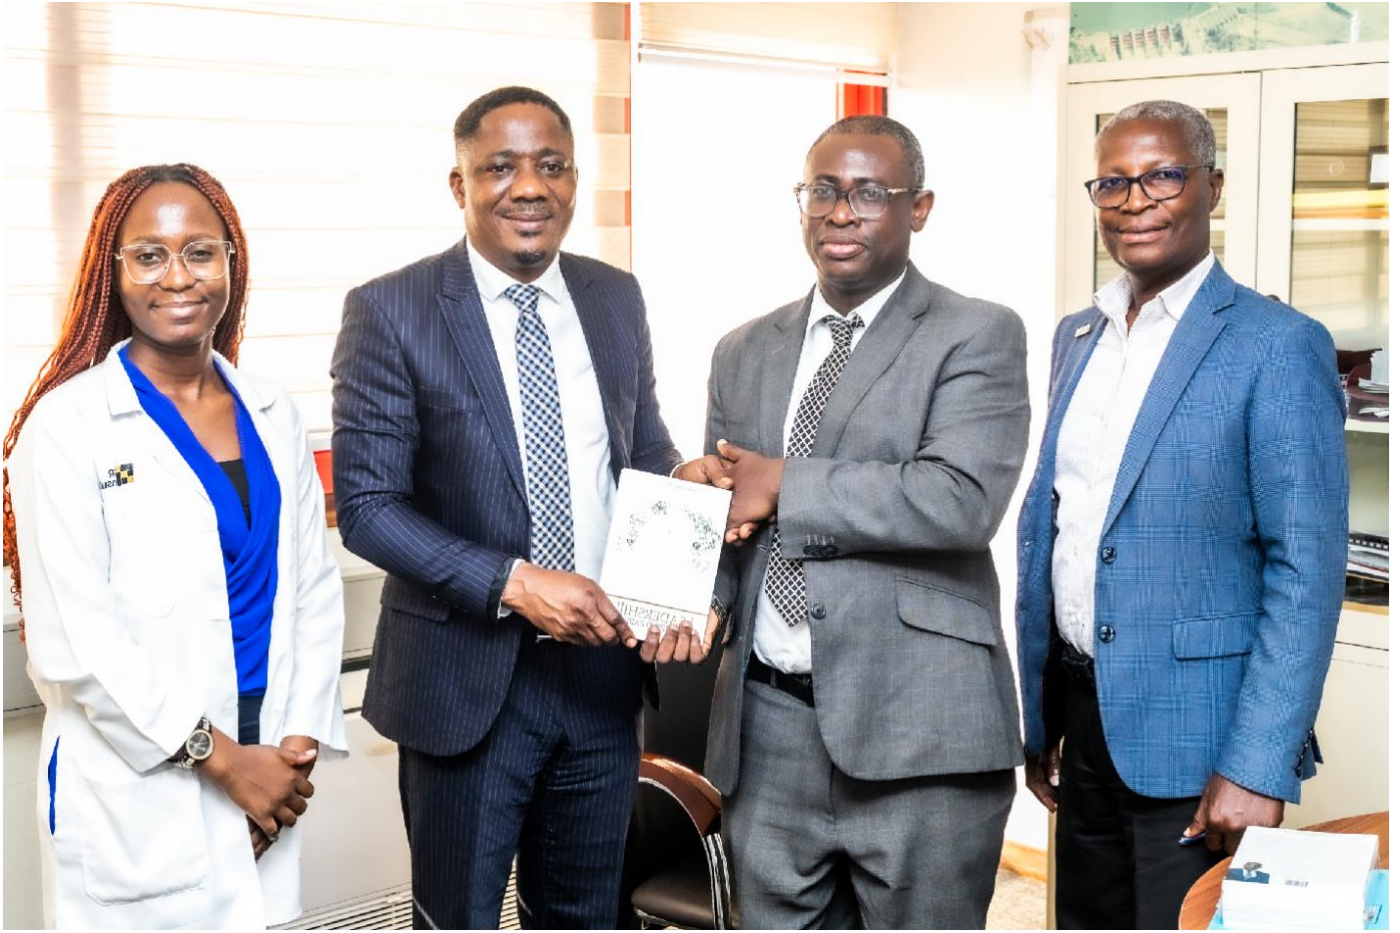

Presenting the book, Dr. Tengey, Founder of Global Strategic Resources (GSR Consulting), a specialist training and development consultancy, said effective leadership is crucial for the success of nations, regardless of their natural resources.

The book offers practical guidance for anyone aspiring to become a leader, regardless of their role or position. It also highlights leadership responsibilities extending beyond CEOs and managers.

Dr. Tengey donated “Leadership Strip Bare” to VRA and the Academy, and introduced the “Management Development Programme” to enhance management skills and foster a culture of effective leadership and continuous improvement.

Receiving the book, the Chief Learning Officer, Mr. Gyamfi, underscored the importance of leadership to VRA and said there were plans to review the Authority’s leadership programmes and modules, including Customer Care and People Management.

He said the book would be helpful in reviewing existing training materials on leadership at the VRA Academy which trains staff and runs programmes for sister energy institutions in the ECOWAS sub-region.
